Minors

The College of Architecture offers several minors, which are available to all students at Washington University in St. Louis. Minors require a total of 15 units from approved courses. All courses applied toward an architecture minor must be taken for a grade, and students must earn a grade of C- or higher. At least 12 of the credit units must be applied exclusively to the minor and cannot be counted toward another major or minor. Architecture track courses count toward the minor. No individual course may count more than once toward the minor.

Elective options may vary each semester and each year. In the event that a required course is not offered during a given semester or a student has irreconcilable scheduling conflicts with required major courses or other minor courses, it is possible to substitute an appropriate alternate course with approval from the minor advisor.
