Minors

The College of Art offers several minors, which are available to all students at Washington University in St. Louis. Minors require a total of 15 or 18 units from approved courses. All courses applied to an art minor must be taken for a grade, and students must earn a grade of C- or higher. For minors requiring 15 units, at least 12 of the credit units must be applied exclusively to the minor and cannot be double-counted toward another major or minor. For the 18-unit Human-Computer Interaction minor, 15 units must be applied exclusively to the minor. No individual course may count more than once toward the minor.

Minors are offered in the following areas:

- Art
- Creative Practice for Social Change
- Design
- Human-Computer Interaction
